Increasing Community and Knowledge

Dr. Strauss, a veterinary dermatologist who has been practicing in Colorado for over 10 years, is again offering a multimedia seminar on common dermatological conditions that groomers will likely encounter. This is a free seminar with food (party sub sandwich from Subway next door) and soft drinks provided. Previous seminars have been well received. Even the most experienced groomers feel they learn from the medical perspective on common skin problems in dogs. We encourage all groomers and grooming office staff to attend this informative and community building event at Rocky Mountain Veterinary Dermatology in Frederick.

Please RSVP by Monday October 10th so we can be sure to have enough food and beverage for all the attendees.
